JANESVILLE CITY SCHOOLS.

The public schools of our city closed their summer term yesterday. At the High School the exercises commenced at 2 P. M., and were of an interesting character. The large upper room occupied by the High School proper, was well filled by pupils, parents and citizens. A number of declamations were delivered by the young gentlemen, all evincing talent and cultivation.—There is a perceptible advancement in the art of declamation among the majority of the scholars during the past year. The pieces selected also show more cultivated taste and a better appreciation of true eloquence. We have not room to particularize the merits of the several speakers, nor the subjects of the pieces spoken. We trust these young men will persevere in their efforts to become good speakers. It is a qualification which has become almost a necessity with every citizen who takes a part in public matters, and all should prepare themselves for these duties. We will only make a brief suggestion in relation to a matter which struck us at the time as quite apparent: that however beneficial and necessary culture may be in producing perfection in oratory, no one should rely upon it alone. Each person has a style of his own which is natural to him, and no student should seek to divest himself of it. We thought those young men were most successful who manifested the greatest individuality and followed the promptings of nature the closest in the style of their public speaking.

The compositions read by the young ladies, were excellent. There has been a marked advancement in this school the last year past, in the excellence of the original compositions. The subjects are better, the style is improved, and the manner of reading them more distinct and in better taste.

The following young ladies and gentlemen received the diploma of graduation: Hattie D. Chow, Mattie Chamberlain, Phoebe Fish, Cynthia Hayner, Sarah Kellogg, Ada Russell, Wm. Bishop and E. Stansbury.

After the exercises had been concluded, a number of gentlemen present delivered short addresses upon the subject of education. They all united in bearing testimony to the value of our present school system, to the fidelity of our excellent corps of teachers, and to the exertions of the board of education in behalf of the schools.—There also appeared to be great unanimity in favor of the continuance of the schools, and of raising a sufficient tax to carry them forward through the coming year with vigor and success.

The following report, by the principal of the High School, Mr. Cass, has been submitted to the board of education and approved. We have requested a copy for publication, and have the pleasure of presenting it to the public, as a true exposition of the condition of the public schools of our city:

1st Ward Primary No. 3.—This school is located in the westerly part of the first ward, in Mitchell's addition. The building is one story high, of wood, and too small by half for the attendance. The ceiling is low, furniture inappropriate, and the entire arrangement of the building such as to be destructive alike to the health and comfort of the pupils. It contains seats for 64 scholars, all of which have been occupied during the past year. The teacher in charge of this school, has a happy faculty of securing the love and respect of her pupils, and has done all that could be done in this position by any teacher. We are confident that if suitable accommodations were provided for this department, it would soon compare favorably with the best primary schools of our city.

1st Ward Primary No. 4.—This school was discontinued at the close of the second term of the past school year, and the pupils transferred to the academy building. The building in which it was taught is located on Franklin, near Bluff street. It is a one story brick building, and one of the oldest school buildings in the city. Its close proximity to the railroad, and other peculiarities in its surroundings, have prevented its becoming a first-class primary school; and though all has been done for this department by the teachers and by the board of education that could be done, still it has failed to attain that high degree of excellence attained by the other primary schools. The building will accommodate 56 pupils—53 were in attendance during the year, previous to its transfer to the academy building.

3d Ward Primary No. 2, was removed to the high school building at the commencement of the spring term. The number registered in this school, previous to its removal, was 39; the average number of members 30, and the per centage of attendance 95.7.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.
These schools have been well attended during the past year, a sufficient guarantee that they are conducted so as to meet the wants of the public.

The 1st Ward Intermediate has been crowded with scholars during the year. The building which it occupies is unfit for the purposes for which it is used. It is small, cold, ill ventilated, and in no way adapted to the wants of the school. Though subjected to these inconveniences, the progress of the school has made in a high degree commendable.

Second Ward Intermediate.—Owing to a division of the district, and the opening of an intermediate department in the high school building, this school has not numbered as many scholars during the past year as formerly. Though small, the school is in a good condition. The discipline is excellent and the progress made in study is rapid and substantial.

The Third Ward Intermediate occupies apartments in the high school building. The rooms are large and commodious, conveniently arranged and furnished with every thing necessary for the comfort and convenience of the pupils.

Fourth Ward Intermediate.—The past has been a year of prosperity to this school. The attendance has been larger and more regular than in any previous year. Order and system are apparent in all the exercises of the school and the pupils are acquiring habits of thought and of study which cannot fail to influence them for good through all their future lives.

GRAMMAR DEPARTMENT.

There have been 62 pupils received into this department from the ward schools, since Sept. 12, 1859. From the 1st ward intermediate, 14; 2d ward, 8; 3d ward, 18; 4th ward, 22. Thirty have been promoted from this school to the senior department of the high school, leaving a membership at the close of the year of 68.

It is to be regretted that Mrs. Fisher, principal of this department, has resigned, the position she has filled the past year with so much ability and success. As an instructor and disciplinarian, she has but few equals. She leaves the department in a prosperous condition, and bears with her the kindest regards of those with whom she has been associated.

HIGH SCHOOL.

This school on many accounts, may be regarded as the most important feature in our educational system. It is not only a strong and abiding stimulus on all the departments below, but it furnishes the means at home for those who have finished the course in the ward schools, to continue their studies and prepare themselves for the various professions and callings in life. As now organized, it embraces four departments or grades of scholarship. The sub-juniors, sub-seniors and seniors. These are sub-divided so as to constitute eight divisions or classes. On finishing the studies of any class, and having passed a satisfactory examination in the same, pupils are promoted to the next higher division, and when the entire course is completed, which requires four consecutive years of study, a diploma is awarded them by the board of education.

The course of study prescribed for the school, embraces a wide range of those branches which have a direct bearing upon the "real and practical of life," including those, and those only, necessary to a thorough practical education. The pupils of the school have never manifested a deeper interest in the several departments of study, than during the past year, and it is confidently believed that greater devotion to study than is exhibited here, is rarely manifested in any school. It is emphatically a working school.

JANESVILLE CITY SCHOOLS.

The public schools of our city closed their summer term yesterday. At the High School the exercises commenced at 2 P. M., and were of an interesting character. The large upper room occupied by the High School proper, was well filled by pupils, parents and citizens. A number of declaimations were delivered by the young gentlemen, all evincing talent and cultivation.— There is a perceptible advancement in the art of declamation among the majority of the scholars during the past year. The pieces selected also show a more cultivated taste and a better appreciation of true eloquence. We have not room to particularize the merits of the several speakers, nor the subjects of the pieces spoken. We trust these young men will persevere in their efforts to become good speakers. It is a qualification which has become almost a necessity with every citizen who takes a part in public matters, and all should prepare themselves for these duties. We will only make a brief suggestion in relation to a matter which struck us at the time as quite apparent: that however beneficial and necessary culture may be in producing perfection in oratory, no one should rely upon it alone. Each person has a style of his own which is natural to him, and no student should seek to divest himself of it. We thought those young men were most successful who manifested the greatest individuality and followed the promptings of nature the closest in the style of their public speaking.

The compositions read by the young ladies, were excellent. There has been a marked advancement in this school the last year past, in the excellence of the original compositions. The subjects are better, the style is improved, and the manner of reading them more distinct and in better taste.

The following young ladies and gentlemen received the diploma of graduation:

Hattie D. Clow, Mattie Chamberlain, Phoebe Fish, Cynthia Harper, Sarah Kellogg, Ada Russell, Wm. Bishop and E. Stansbury.

After the exercises had been concluded, a number of gentlemen present delivered short addresses upon the subject of education. They all united in bearing testimony to the value of our present school system, to the fidelity of our excellent corps of teachers, and to the exertions of the board of education in behalf of the schools.—

There also appeared to be great unanimity in favor of the continuance of the schools, and of raising a sufficient tax to carry them forward through the coming year with vigor and success.

The following report, by the principal of the High School, Mr. Cass, has been submitted to the board of education and approved. We have requested a copy for publication, and have the pleasure of presenting it to the public, as a true exposition of the condition of the public schools of our city:

To the Board of Education of the city of Janesville:

GENTLEMEN.—In accordance with a resolution of your board, I have the honor to submit the following report:

The efficiency of our school system has been so fully and thoroughly tested, that no argument is necessary at this time to establish its superiority over the independent district system. Since the latter was abolished and the former inaugurated in 1855, popular education has been greatly promoted among us, and the ultimate triumph of our public schools placed beyond a doubt.

The schools of the city, as organized at the commencement of the past school year, embrace 8 primary, 4 intermediate, 1 grammar and one high school. At the close of the second term, two primary departments were discontinued, and the pupils transferred to other schools. By this arrangement, two teachers were dispensed with and the pupils accommodated equally as well. The other departments have been in successful operation during the entire year. There have been employed in the schools during the year, 24 teachers; 4 males and 20 females. Of this number, 10 have been engaged in the primary, 8 in the intermediate, 2 in the grammar, and 4 in the high school.

There are in our city, according to the last census, 3,689 children over four and under twenty years of age. The whole number registered in the public schools since Sept. 12, 1859, after making allowance for duplicate registration, is 1,600. The number who have attended the catholic school, 250. The number who have attended other private schools, 100, making in all 1,850 children who have attended some school a portion of the time during the past year. The whole number of persons between the ages of four and twenty who have not attended school at all during the past year, is 1739. Allowing 866, or 25 per cent. of the number of school age to be engaged in business or labor, and there are 753 children growing up in our midst without the benefits of education. Making allowance for those who are of catholic parentage, and consequently would not attend our public schools, and there are in our city from four to five hundred children who should, by some means, be brought into the schools. The manner in which this can be accomplished is a subject worthy of the consideration of parents, teachers and school officers.

The following table shows the number of school buildings, number of seats in each, number in attendance at the schools in each ward since Sept. 12, 1859, and the number of children in each ward between the ages of four and twenty years:

BUILDINGS.	No. of Seats.	No. educated.
1st ward—1 ward and 2 primary.	900	856
2d " " 1 "	250	230
3d " " 1 "	267	247
At large—1 high school,	322	122
Total, 8	1627	1659

*The 3d ward school is organized in the high school building.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

These schools are doing a good work.—

1st Ward Primary No. 3.—This school is located in the westerly part of the first ward, in Mitchell's addition. The building is one story high, of wood, and too small by half for the attendance. The ceiling is low, furniture inappropriate, and the entire arrangement of the building such as to be destructive alike to the health and comfort of the pupils. 2d Ward Primary No. 4.—This school was discontinued at the close of the second term of the past school year, and the pupils transferred to the academy building. On finishing the studies of any class, and having passed a satisfactory examination in the same, pupils are promoted to the next higher division, and when the entire course is completed, which requires four consecutive years of study, a diploma is awarded them by the board of education.

The course of study prescribed for the school, embraces a wide range of those branches which have a direct bearing upon the "real and practical of life," including those, and those only, necessary to a thorough practical education. The pupils of the school have never manifested a deeper interest in the several departments of study, than during the past year, and it is confidently believed that greater devotion to study than is exhibited here, is rarely manifested in any school. It is emphatically a working school.

The following persons have received the diploma of the institution:

CLASS OF 1858.

Sabre A. Seefield, H. Rossella Moon, CLASS OF 1858.

Annual cost to the city for each pupil registered, including only teachers' wages,

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

These schools are doing a good work.—1st Ward Primary No. 3.—This school is located in the westerly part of the first ward, in Mitchell's addition. The building is one story high, of wood, and too small by half for the attendance. The ceiling is low, furniture inappropriate, and the entire arrangement of the building such as to be destructive alike to the health and comfort of the pupils. It contains seats for 64 scholars, all of which have been occupied during the past year. The teacher in charge of this school, has a happy faculty of securing the love and respect of her pupils, and has done all that could be done in this position by any teacher. We are confident that if suitable accommodations were provided for this department, it would soon compare favorably with the best primary schools of our city.

1st Ward Primary No. 4.—This school was discontinued at the close of the second term of the past school year, and the pupils transferred to the academy building. The building in which it was taught is located on Franklin, near Bluff street. It is a one story brick building, and one of the oldest school buildings in the city. Its close proximity to the railroad, and other peculiarities in its surroundings, have prevented its becoming a first-class primary school; and though all has been done for this department by the teachers and by the board of education that could be done, still it has failed to attain that high degree of excellence attained by the other primary schools. The building will accommodate 50 pupils—58 were in attendance during the year, previous to its transfer to the academy building.

3d Ward Primary No. 2. was removed to the high school building at the commencement of the spring term. The number registered in this school, previous to its removal was 39; the average number of members 30, and the per centage of attendance 95.5.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

These schools have been well attended during the past year, a sufficient guarantee that they are conducted so as to meet the wants of the public.

The First Ward Intermediate has been crowded with scholars during the year. The building which it occupies is unfit for the purposes for which it is used. It is small, cold, ill ventilated, and in no way adapted to the wants of the school. Though subjected to these inconveniences, the progress of the school has made in a high degree commendable.

Second Ward Intermediate.—Owing to a division of the district, and the opening of an intermediate department in the high school building, this school has not remained as many scholars during the past year as formerly. Though small, the school is in a good condition. The discipline is excellent and the progress made in study is rapid and substantial.

The Third Ward Intermediate occupies apartments in the high school building. The rooms are large and commodious, conveniently arranged and furnished with every thing necessary for the comfort and convenience of the pupils.

Fourth Ward Intermediate.—The past year has been a year of prosperity to this school. The attendance has been larger and more regular than in any previous year. Order and system are apparent in all the exercises of the school and the pupils are acquiring habits of thought and of study which cannot fail to influence them for good through all their future lives.

GRAMMAR DEPARTMENT.

There have been 62 pupils received into this department from the ward schools, since Sept. 12, 1859. From the 1st ward intermediate, 14; 2d ward, do 8; 3d ward, do 18; 4th ward, do 22. Thirty have been promoted from this school to the senior department of the high school, leaving a membership at the close of the year of 68.

It is to be regretted that Mrs. Fisher, principal of this department, has resigned; the position she has filled the past year with so much ability and success. As an instructor and disciplinarian, she has but few equals. She leaves the department in a prosperous condition, and bears with her the kindest regards of those with whom she has been associated.

HIGH SCHOOL.

This school on many accounts, may be regarded as the most important feature in our educational system. It is not only a strong and abiding stimulus on all the departments below, but it furnishes the means at home for those who have finished the course in the ward schools, to continue their studies and prepare themselves for the various professions and callings in life. As now organized, it embraces four departments or grades of scholarship. The sub-juniors, juniors, sub-seniors and seniors. These are sub-divided so as to constitute eight divisions or classes. On finishing the studies of any class, and having passed a satisfactory examination in the same, pupils are promoted to the next higher division, and when the entire course is completed, which requires four consecutive years of study, a diploma is awarded them by the board of education.

VOCAL MUSIC.—No provisions have yet been made for giving instruction in vocal music, though it has long appeared as a part of the course of study prescribed for our schools. While, therefore, we are making fair progress in the other departments of science, it must be acknowledged that in musical culture we are accomplishing comparatively nothing. Of its utility as a school study there is abundant evidence.—The testimony of the best educators, both of this and of other countries, goes to show that vocal music is a valuable auxiliary in promoting the intellectual, moral and physical development of the young. "By its gentle, harmonizing and soothing agency, it powerfully tends to the repression of turbulent, disorderly, and restless inclinations—restrains and subdues the angry passions—fills the tender minds of childhood with agreeable and pleasing emotions, and insensibly elevates and enables their affections, their principles, and their entire moral nature. It forms an inestimable connecting link between the education of the intellect and that of the heart; and its cultivation should be regarded as an indispensable ingredient in every system of public instruction."

The course of study prescribed for the school, embraces a wide range of those branches which have a direct bearing upon the "real and practical of life," including those, and those only, necessary to a thorough practical education. The pupils of the school have never manifested a deeper interest in the several departments of study, than during the past year, and it is confidently believed that greater devotion to study than is exhibited here, is rarely manifested in any school. It is emphatically a working school.
